ABOUT US

The Northern Ireland Statistics and Research Agency (NISRA) is the principal source of official information related to Northern Ireland's population and current social and economic conditions.

Survey interviewers work for NISRA's Central Survey Unit (CSU). CSU is an integral part of NISRA and carries out social and economic surveys on behalf of government departments and other public bodies.

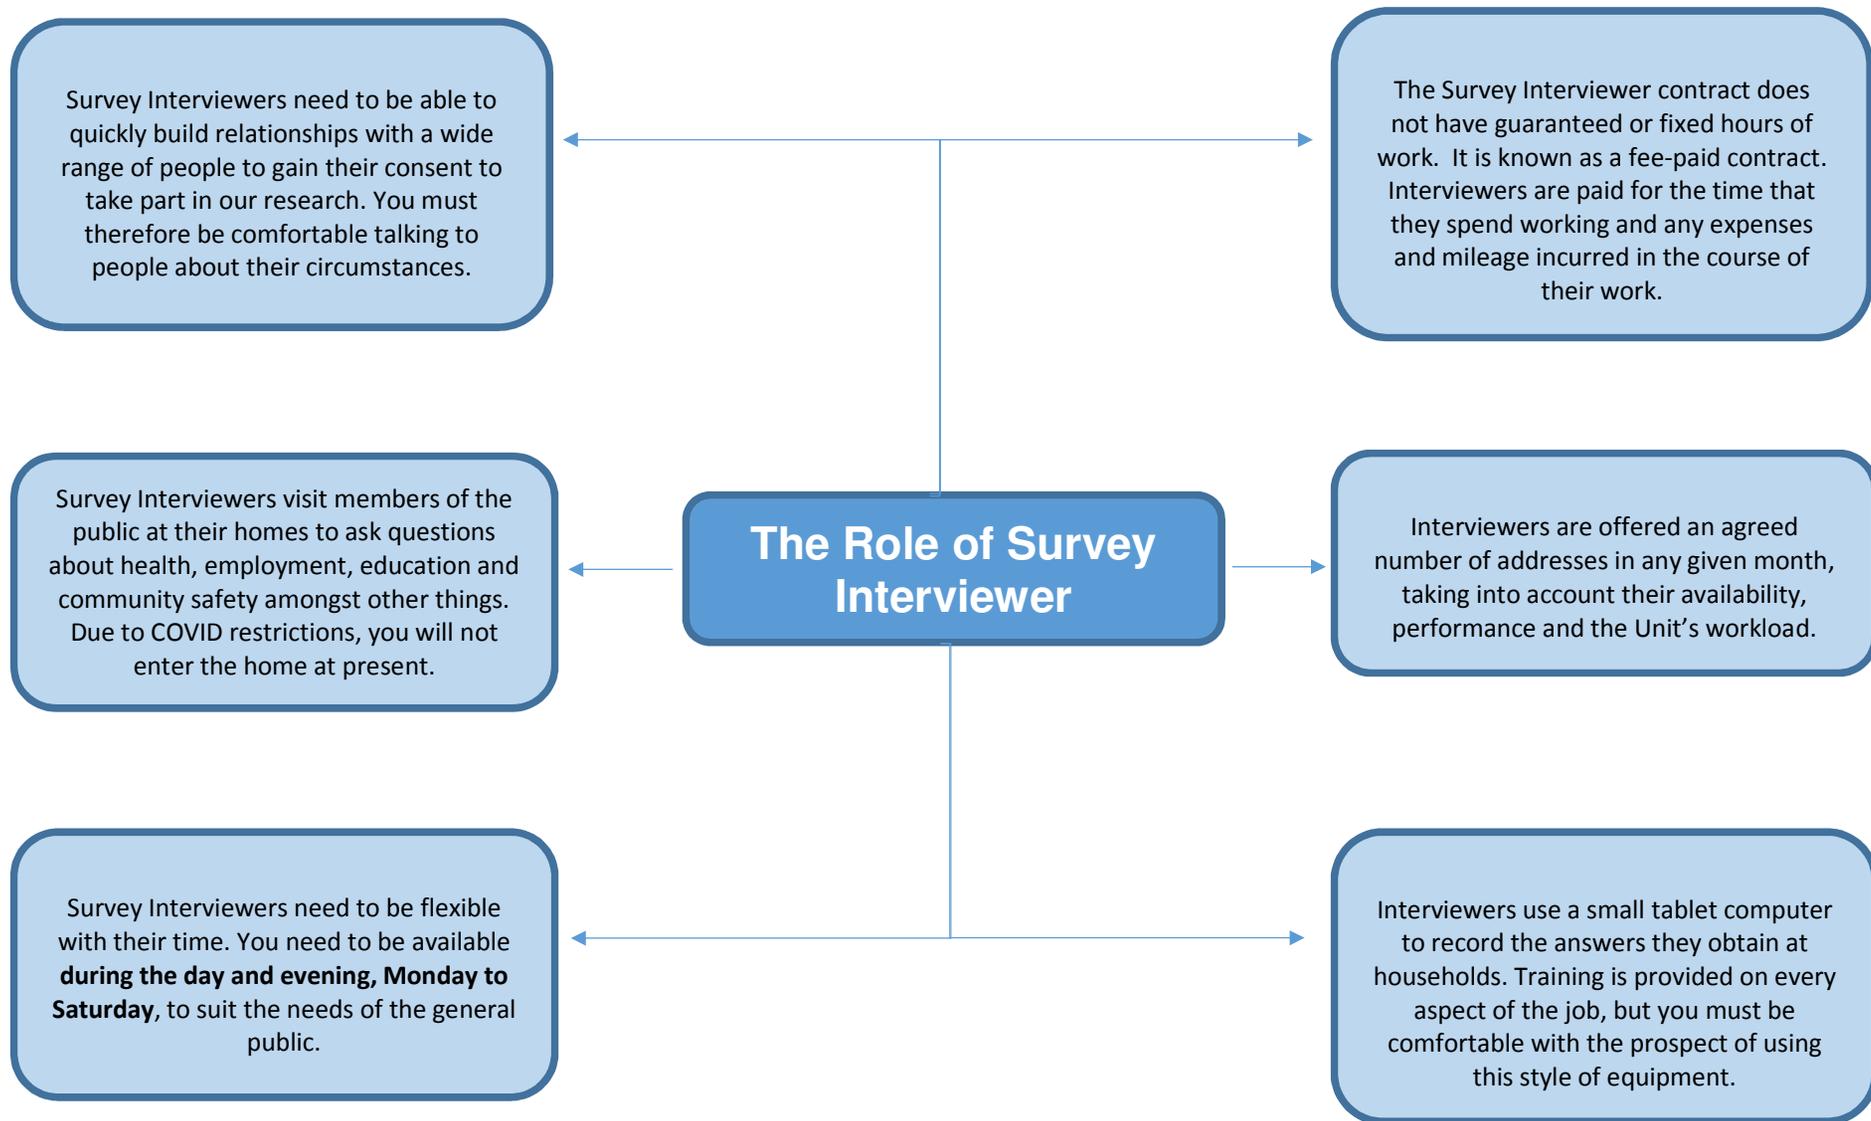

The statistics produced by the Agency help to inform the policies created by Local Government Departments and also contribute to academic research and debate in the wider community.

For further information on CSU please visit our website at

<https://www.nisra.gov.uk/central-survey-unit>

Please Note

Survey Interviewers work from home and visit residential addresses at times which suit the people who live there. Due to COVID guidelines at present interviewers will only call to the door step and arrange a time to contact the household by phone. It is important to carefully consider whether you can fulfil the time requirements of the job, working during the day, at evenings and on Saturdays as necessary, particularly if you are already working full time. This Information Booklet will provide more information to help you decide if this is the job for you.

REQUIREMENTS OF THE ROLE

A successful Survey Interviewer will:

Have the right interpersonal and communication skills to gain the trust of a diverse range of people while recording responses on a tablet computer (IT training provided)

Be persuasive without being forceful

Demonstrate a commitment to the role that drives them to meet their targets

Have the perseverance to carry on, even when faced with a setback

Be comfortable talking to new people within their homes

Have a flexible approach to their time, i.e. being able to work during the day, and at evenings and weekends as required by the people they will survey

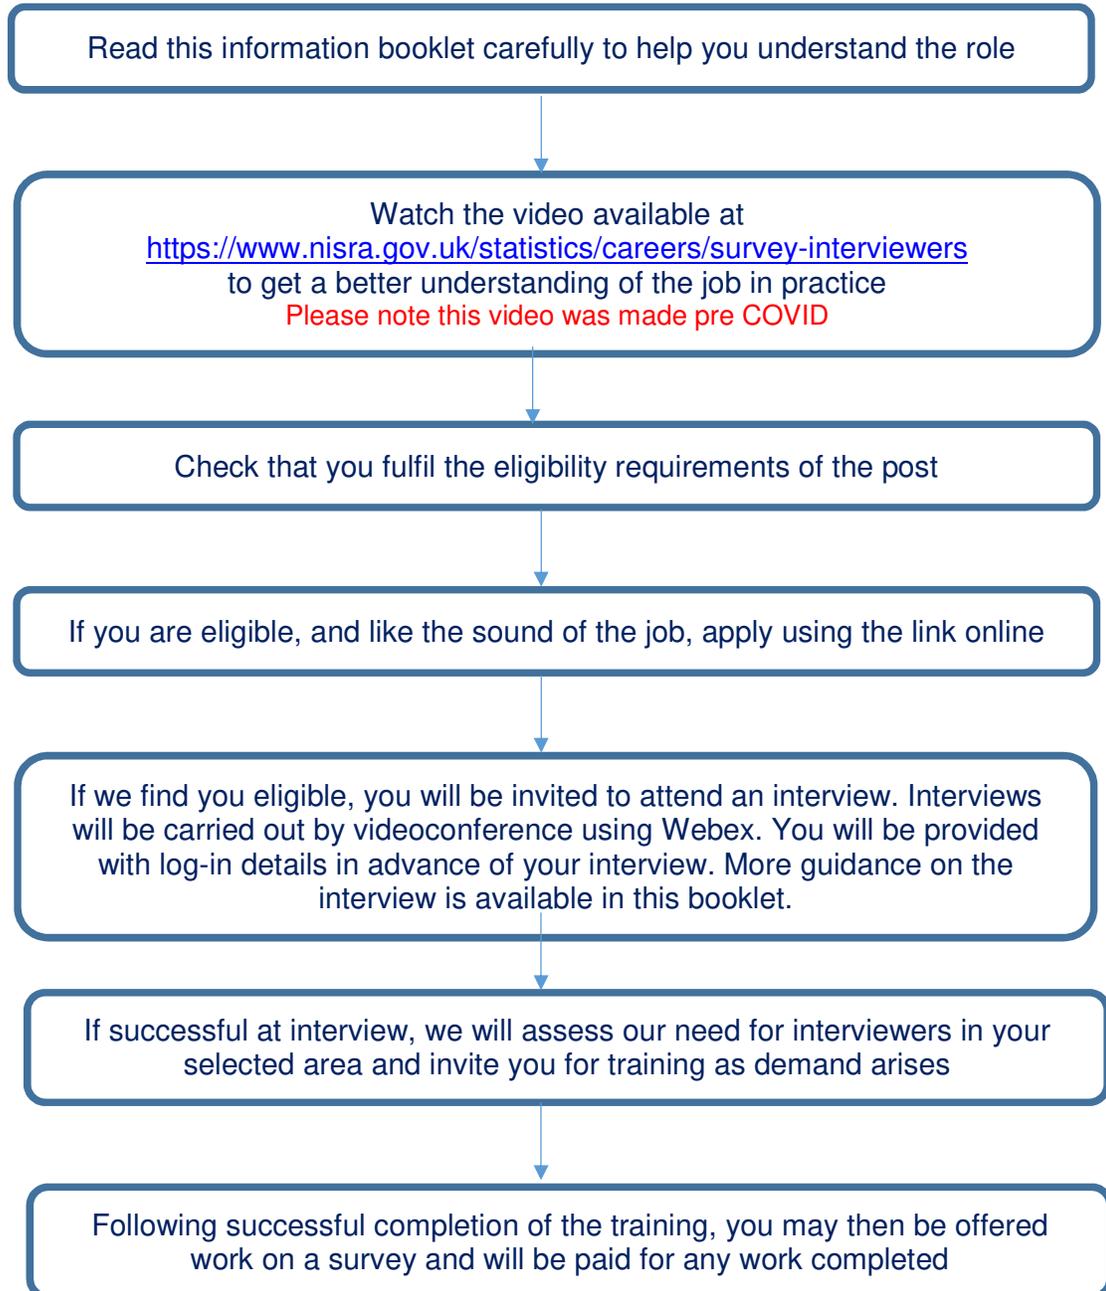

Be well organised and adaptable to a range of situations

Have a means of transport that will enable them to frequently travel to and from specifically selected addresses which are spread up to 20 miles (30 miles in Fermanagh) from their home address, at times in remote rural areas, and at varying times of the day and evening in an efficient and cost effective manner

NEXT STEPS

LOCATION OF POSTS

This recruitment competition will be used to fill posts in locations across Northern Ireland as marked in the following map (see appendix 1 for complete list of location markers).

On your application form you will be asked to identify which location(s) you wish to apply for, however you will only need to attend one interview if you are eligible for a post in any area.

You may apply to work in more than one location, however to be eligible for any area you must reside within 20 miles of its town/city centre, or within 30 miles if you apply for work in Fermanagh. Please note that the area markers on the map above represent the main population area in each location. A complete list of area markers can be found in Appendix 1. The post will require you to cover surrounding towns and villages as well.

If you are successful at interview we will use an online map to measure the distance from your home post code to the City/Town Centre of location(s) that you have selected. If you live outside the mileage restrictions for any location that you have selected you will be withdrawn from consideration for that particular area. You will only be offered a post in one of your selected locations, provided the mileage restrictions are fulfilled. Your name will then be removed from the list of successful applicants for your other chosen locations.

Applications are considered as and when demand arises in a particular location. Therefore you may not be invited to interview in the short term if demand does not arise in your chosen location(s). Applications received will be held on file until demand for new interviewers arises in any given area.

TRAINING

The training programme commences with a one week, almost full-time, training course at our Belfast Headquarters (or an alternative Belfast venue). During the week you will be introduced to the Agency, will learn how to use the tablet computers required for conducting the interviews and will be given a wealth of information and interactive practice on interviewing skills.

You will also be assigned a Field Trainer who provides ongoing training, advice and support to you during your time with CSU. The Field Trainer is essentially an experienced interviewer who will act as a mentor and supervisor for you in your new role. You will also have the opportunity to shadow them during the course of their work to get first-hand experience of the job at hand.

Following this, you will be provided with a small number of addresses to complete a practice survey with members of the public. It is here that you will be expected to put into practice all the training you have received so far and you'll typically have around 2 weeks to get as many people as you can, at the addresses you've been given, to take part in the survey.

Provided you successfully complete the training, you will then be assigned to one or more survey projects and will be required to attend a briefing on the survey itself. These typically last from a few hours to a full day and are usually held at our Belfast Headquarters, usually between 10:00am and 4.30pm. You will be paid for all training attended.

PAY AND HOLIDAYS

Interviewers are paid for time spent travelling to and from the working area and for time spent calling on people and interviewing. Study and other forms of administration time are also paid. Payment is made for attendance at training courses. All necessary expenses, incurred in the course of training and fieldwork, are reimbursed.

The basic rate for interviewers is £9.90 per hour. Beyond the basic hourly rate of pay, there are three merit additions known as merit 1, 2 and 3 which are performance related. An interviewer's merit rating is reviewed every six months (provided they have completed their probation period) and is determined by performance in the previous twelve months. The outcome of that review then determines whether or not the interviewer receives merit additions for the next six months. The current hourly rates of pay, including the merit additions, are as follows:

Basic rate	£9.90
Merit 1	£10.08
Merit 2	£10.53
Merit 3	£11.00

An extra allowance, calculated at hourly rate +15%, is also payable for interviewing time (and associated travelling time) carried out on Saturday, as well as after 17:00 and before 08:00 Monday-Friday. When the extra allowance is payable the effective rates increase and are as follows:

Basic rate + 15%	£11.39
Basic rate + merit 1 + 15%	£11.59
Basic rate + merit 2 +15%	£12.11
Basic rate + merit 3 + 15%	£12.65

Paid Annual Leave

Interviewers are entitled to 28 days (pro rata) paid annual leave over each 12 month period.

Statutory Payments

Interviewers are entitled to Statutory Sick, Statutory Maternity, Statutory Paternity or Shared Parental Pay providing they have met the qualifying conditions laid down by HM Revenue & Customs. No payment, other than any which may be due under statutory entitlement, will be made for any period of non-working.

Pension

Under the Provisions of the Pensions (No.2) Act (Northern Ireland) 2008, all interviewers who are eligible must be automatically enrolled into a workplace pension scheme. NISRA's workplace pension scheme for automatic enrolment is the National Employment Savings Trust (NEST). Interviewers can choose to opt out of the pension scheme at any time.

Probation Period

The first 40 hours of interviewing constitute the probationary period, during which an interviewer's performance will be assessed over a number of different areas. Your continued employment as an interviewer is dependent on satisfactory performance during the probationary period.

INTERVIEW GUIDANCE

If your on-line application is completed in keeping with the guidance, and you are eligible for a post, we will invite you to attend a competence based interview.

If this is your first experience of a competence-based interview, bear in mind that it does not require you to:

- Talk through previous jobs or appointments from start to finish;
- Provide generalised information as to your background and experience; or
- Provide information that is not specifically relevant to the competence the question is designed to test.

A competence-based interview does however require you to:

- Focus exclusively, in your responses, on your ability to fulfill the competences required for effective performance in the role; and
- Provide specific examples of your experience in relation to the required competence areas.

In preparation for the interview you may wish to think about having a clear structure for each of your examples, such as:

- Situation – briefly outline the situation;
- Task – what was your objective, what were you trying to achieve;
- Action – what did you actually do, what was your unique contribution;
- Result – what happened, what was the outcome, what did you learn.

The panel will ask you to provide specific examples from your past experience in relation to each of the competences. You should therefore come to the interview prepared to discuss in detail a range of examples which best illustrate your skills and abilities in each competence area. You may draw examples from any area of your work / life experiences.

In preparation for interview you should consider the bullet points listed under the two competency headings overleaf and think about situations and examples where these link to your past experience.

Interview marks are made up as follows:

Competence A: Communication & People 30 marks available

Competence B: Service Delivery 10 marks available

The pass mark for competence A is 18 out of a possible total of 30 and 6 out of a possible 10 for competence B and candidates must pass each competence to be successful in the competition.

Competence 1: Communication and People Skills

- Tailors message to suit audience;
- Listens and responds constructively to the views and concerns of others;
- Communicates clearly and concisely;
- Demonstrates empathy;
- Uses well thought out arguments to achieve a positive outcome;
- Understands the importance of presentation to create a positive first impression;
- Ability to build and maintain trust with others;
- Deals effectively with difficult situations;
- Ability to understand and follow briefing material or instructions and to use or convey the information to achieve a positive outcome;
- Ability to successfully interact with a wide range of people from different backgrounds.

Competence 2: Service Delivery

- Seeks and accepts responsibility, taking personal responsibility to make sure results are achieved;
- Prioritises work appropriately and delivers results to appropriate time and budget constraints;
- Shows commitment to the success of each task, and strives to successfully overcome setbacks;
- Searches for ways to improve on standards and results;
- Understands the importance of effective work planning and preparation to achieve a positive outcome.

FURTHER INFORMATION

The Merit Principle

In accordance with the Office of the Civil Service Commissioners' Recruitment Code, appointments to NISRA are made under the 'merit principle', where the best person for any given post is selected in fair and open competition. Further information on the Civil Service Commissioners can be found at www.nicscommissioners.org.

Order of Merit

The Selection Panel will only assess applicants based on performance at interview. Those who pass the interview will be placed on an order of merit based on their interview score. A separate order of merit will be formed and held for each location once interviewing in each area(s) has taken place.

If you have applied for more than one location you will only be interviewed once and your score will be held against all your chosen locations. Your merit position for each location may vary as it will depend on the number of applicants interviewed for each location. Once an order of merit has been formed for a particular location, there will be no further interviews for that area until the list has been exhausted. Orders of merit will remain valid for a period up to two years.
